

Once upon a time,
there lived a unicorn.
This unicorn loved to make new friends and go to school.
One day, the unicorn had a new student in her class.
The unicorn's new student was a Kitty-corn! The Kitty-corn was a little shy and the unicorn tried to make friends with Kitty-corn, but she was too shy.
The unicorn tried many, many times to make friends with her and it was a little hard. The next day, kitty-corn came up to unicorn and said, "Hello, would you like to play basket ball with me and puppy-corn?" she asked. "yes!" said unicorn. They played basket ball all recess. But then after a whole school year Kitty-corn didn't play with unicorn any more! It was because Kitty-corn had made a new friend and unicorn was sad. Kitty-corn's new friend's name was foxy-corn and unicorn wanted to be kitty-corn's friend.

again, so unicorn thought of solution and then she knew just what to do: She would ask to join in! Unicorn was so excited that after she got ready for bed, she ran straight to bed, turned off the lights, and closed her eyes right away. The next morning, unicorn ate breakfast fast, she got dressed fast, and she brushed her teeth fast! She was too excited to not stop doing anything fast. When She got to school, every one got there early, so there was some time to play in the playground! Then unicorn walked to the soccer field and tried to ask to join in, but Kitty-corn and Foxy-corn were too fast and unicorn couldn't catch up. They both were zipping and zooming across the soccer field. When it was time for school, unicorn walked sadly to the school. day after day, unicorn tried and tried, but it never worked. One night, tears filled unicorn's eyes and unicorn cried and said, "I think I am never going to be Kitty-corn's friend again," she said. When it was time for bed, unicorn thought about the fun times she had with Kitty-corn in 1st grade. the next morning, when unicorn was walking to school, she saw Kitty-corn and Foxy-corn! Foxy-corn waved at her and

Said, "Want to play basketball on the basketball court with us?" she asked "yes!" said unicorn. unicorn, Foxy-corn, and Kitty-corn played basketball all recess and they lived happily ever after, the end.
